Fruits of Know Nothingism.

The following article from the Detroit Tribune shows clearly the effect of the present crusade against foreigners upon the interest of the North West:

"We have from the Department of the Secretary of State, at Washington, the subjoined official returns of immigration passengers during the first half of 1855, compared with the first half of 1854:

	First Quarter		Second Quarter		Total.
Ports,	1854.	1855.	1854.	1855.	1854,	1855.
Boston	1,991	1,334	8,493	5,316	10,416	6,686
New York	29,029	19,517	119,816	59,084	148,841	78,601
Philadelphia	1,139	574	5,108	4,119	7,244	4,693
Baltimore	399	1,213	4,020	1,911	4,319	3,121
N. Orleans	14,191	7,173	14,188	6,244	28,379	13 417
Total	46,670	29,811	152,676	76,704	199,208	106,515

"These returns show a heavy decrease. "The present lags behind last year largely, says the statician of the State Department, "there being a decrease in 1855 of ninety two thousand seven hundred and thirty." New York suffers most.—The decrease there for the second quarter of the half year, was 70 734.

"Money-wise there is, of course, a heavy falling off. The official calculation is, that the immigrants average sixty-five dollars per head. The loss in hard cash, therefore, is six Million thirty thousand nine hundred and sixty dollars, ($6,030,960.) Of this New York and the West lose the largest. It is calculated that the States of the North-west would receive out of this amount over a million and half of that.

"The shippers, railroad men, builders, land sellers, &c., &c., at the sea board are somewhat excited over this return, and it cannot fail to produce it effects on the West, which would have received the largest share of the labor and capital if the tide of immigration had not been stayed. If the loss had been caused by any legitimate or necessary cause, neither would complain; but created as it has been by an exclusive and class policy, both feel, and will do what they can to remove it. The South gets but little from this resource, and therefore does not care about it; New England receives only a small share of it and is indifferent; but New York, and especially the Mid West, and the Western States being the chief recipients of this large addition to their moral and material growth, to their actual wealth and power, and in the most need of it must consider and act upon it."

Making a Sea of the Arabian Desert.—Captain William Allan, of the British navy, has published a book advocating the conversion of the Arabian desert into an ocean. The author believes that the great valley extending from the southern depression of the Lebanon range to the head of the Gulf of Akaba, the eastern branch of the head of the Red Sea, has been once an ocean. It is in many places 1,300 feet below the level of the Mediterranean, and in it are situated the Dead Sea and the Sea of Tiberias. He believes that this ocean, being cut off from the Red Sea by the rise of the land at the southern extremity, and being only fed by small streams, gradually became dried by solar evaporation. He proposes to cut a canal of adequate size from the head of the Gulf of Akaba to the Dead Sea, and another from the Mediterranean, near Mount Carmel, across the plain Esdraelon, to the fissure in the mountain range of Lebanon. By this means, the Mediterranean would rush in, with a fall of 1,300 square miles in extent for a barren, useless desert; thus making the navigation to India as short as the overland route, spreading fertility over a now arid country, and opening up the fertile regions of Palestine to settlement and cultivation.

The conception is a magnificent one, but no sufficient survey has been made to determine its practicability or its cost.

Ring on the Fourth Finger.—The idea of wearing rings on the fourth finger of the left hand, because of a supposed artery there which went to the heart, was carried so far that, according to Levinus Lemnius, this finger was called Medicus; and the old physicians would stir up their medicaments and potions with it, because no venom could stick upon the very outmost part of it but it will offend a man and communicate itself to the heart. It is said by Swinburn and others, that, therefore, it became the wedding finger. The priesthood kept up this idea by still keeping it as the wedding finger; but it was got at through the use of the Trinity, for in the ancient ritual of English marriages, the ring was placed by the husband on the top of the thumb of the left hand, with the words, "In the name of the Father;" he then removed it to the forefinger, saying, "In the name of the Son;" then the middle finger, adding "And of the Holy Ghost; finally, he left it, as now, on the fourth finger, with the final and closing word "Amen."—Edward's History and Poetry of Finger Rings.

Large Steamer.—The Metropolis a mammoth steamer for Long Island Sound, is just completed in New York. The Journal of Commerce says, her engine is 2,000 horse power, and built after the most approved designs, at the Novelty works, in this city. She has four boilers and eight furnaces, and is fitted with vertical brass tubes like those of our ocean steamers. Perhaps the most extraordinary part of her gigantic machinery is the cylinder; it is 105 inches in diameter, with a twelve feet stroke. Many amusing illustrations of its size were given before it left the place of manufacture. At first a party of 22 persons dined in it! Then a horse and buggy were driven through it; and to test its utmost capacity, as many men were called to stand in it as could find a convenient foothold; upon counting the heads of this party it was found that they numbered 105! This immense size gives it a large increase of power with a moderate pressure of steam; the working guage being 25 pounds to the square inch. The cost of the boat is $350,000, and her speed it is thought, will exceed twenty miles an hour."

Unmitigated Depravity.—Last Saturday afternoon, while Mr. Jacob Taechler was attending the funeral of his child, in the German settlement, some villain set fire to his house and burned it to the ground, with all its contents. The scoundrel, not satisfied with the bereavement of Mr. Taechler in the loss of his only child, prompted by the fiend within him, heaped up the measure of the sorrowing father and mother's grief by destroying their home. Mr. T. is a quiet inoffensive man, and never gave any one cause to perpetrate such an infernal deed. He is a poor man, been married a little over a year, and in one day his darling child, his home and all been swept away from him.

The Moral of Fruit Stealing.

Judging from the universal laxity of morals on the subject of fruit stealing, prevalent in almost all parts of the country, it would seem that the injunction, "thou shalt not steal," was generally understood not to have any application to the various articles of property included under the general name of fruit. Parents who would shrink from the throught that a son had been guilty of stealing a shilling's worth of goods from a neighboring store, as from the icy coils of a deadly serpent, too often look with stolid indifference on the perpetration of a robbery of a fruit orchard to the amount of five or ten dollars.

WM. STEWART, Mayor.

Attest, R. N. GODFREY, City Clerk.

In one case the idea of disgrace is always [illegible] act, as it should be; while in the other it does not so, but only looked upon as a piece of innocent if not praiseworthy amusement. But let us give the subject a little examination, and see if we should not give the fruit-theif quite as an indelible a stamp of infamy as we do the person who is guilty of stealing any other sort of property. A. plants a half dozen choice pear trees, and stakes them, and prunes and nurses them for eight or ten years, all on the strength of the hope of enjoying their delicious fruit when they come into bearing. And at last he has he satisfaction of seeing a few fine specimens of fruit growing, and finally ripening on each of them—he goes out one morning to see if some of them may not be ripe enough to gather, and judge of his disappointment, you who wink at fruit-stealing, when he discovers that a thief has got the start of him—that they have all been stolen the previous night.

Now, supposing the intrinsic value of the fruit thus stolen does not exceed one dollar, does the reader think for a moment that that is the extent of the injury to the person losing them? By no means; for A. would have preferred that five dollars worth of grain had been stolen from his granary—and why? simply because he had waited so long for them to grow, had watched their growth with so much interest, and had confidently expected (as he had a right to expect) to gather them for his own use. Indeed the mere money value of the fruit in the market is not the full extent of the loss he has sustained. His disappointment and vexation are not included in this; nor the thought that in spite of his utmost vigilance in future, he has no reliable guaranty against a like misfortune the next season—for growing fruit cannot be locked up and protected with the ease that most kinds of property can.

So utterly at fault is public sentiment on this subject, that many who have had depredations committed upon their fruit, hesitate to prosecute the, offenders when discovered, feeling that such a proceeding will hardly be sanctioned by the community. Now we submit that this is all wrong—that there is no good reason why the fruit theif who prowls about in the night, when honest people are asleep, for the purpose of plundering fruit orchards, should not be held up to the scorn and contempt of the community, and placed in the same category as the sheep-thief, the robber of hen roosts and the burglar.

There is great need of a change in public sentiment, in respect to this matter. The evil is so prevalent in most sections of the country, as to deter many from attempting to cultivate fruit to anything like the extent they otherwise would. Let the press, especially the agricultural press, speak out fearlessly on this subject, and let all good citizens frown down the idea, altogether to prevalent in community, that "it is not larceny to steal fruit." In our opinion, the remedy for this evil is the keeping of the respectable portion of community, to a very great extent; for just so soon as the robber of henroosts is, the fruit on the trees will become as secure as are the pullets on the roost—and not before.—Ontario Times.

Sevastopol Not to be Taken.—We learn that letters were received by the Baltic, to the effect that three American officers—Messrs. DELAFIELD, MORDECAI, and MCCLELLAN—who went to Sevastopol some time ago to inspect the works, have performed that duty, and are now at Vienna on their return, where they are awaiting an order from the French Government to permit them to visit the allied works before the walls of Sevastopol. The French Government has consented, and they will leave Vienna, for Varna and Sevastopol in a day or two. Two of the American surgeons who have been in the service of Russia, have just left Sevastopol, and are now in this city. The opinion of all these gentleman is that Sevastopol cannot be taken, and now in the Crimea, for it will have to be taken in a perfect sea of human blood.

☞ These gentleman were not as good prophets or not so profoundly versed in military science as they thought themselves to be; since the very next arrival from Europe announced that Sevastopol was actually taken.

☞ Some of the fair sex don't believe they were made for the special happiness of the race, and therefore direct their lives without any reference to anybody's likes or dislike. To such the following piece of advice has no meaning; but to those women who think their life is to harmonize and blend with man's—whose ambition is to make loving and loved wives, it has a suggestive word:

Heaven knows how many simple letters, from simple minded women, have been kissed, cherished and wept over by men of far loftier intellect. So it will always be to the end of time. It is a lesson worth learning, by those young creatures who seek to allure by their accomplishments, or dazzle by their genius, that thought he may admire, no man ever loves a woman for these things. He loves her for what is essentially distinct from, thought not incompatable with them—her woman's nature and woman's heart. This is why we so often see a man of high genius or intellectual power, pass but the De Staels and Corinnes, to take into his bosom some wayside flower, who has nothing on earth to make her worthy of him, except that she is—what so few of your "female celebrities" are, a—true women.

Anecdote of Governor Wise.—Before his election the K. N. papers were fond of publishing anecdotes to show how Wise was "put down" upon the stump, by interuption from "Sam," in the vast assemblages which were wont to gather around the hustings of the Orator of Accomac. At one of these meetings in Western Virginia, two of "Samuel's" fatest young men had been more than usually noisy and insolent towards the speaker, and their interruptions were plainly intended to annoy and insult him. Wise paused in his speech, and turning to these "bloods" pointed his long skinny finger, a la Randolph, at the offenders, and said—"Young men! I am to be your next Governor: you will probably be in the penitentiary; and you may depend upon it you will have to serve out your time!" He wasn't interrupted again in that quarter.

McKensie, whose name became so widely known during the patriot struggles in Canada, recently attempted to lecture at Brampton, Canada, but was pelted with rotten eggs and was obliged to hid himself to escape from the unsavory missiles.

The Montrel Standard says that the deceased General Read, who fell at the head of the Russian troops, in the battly of the Tchernaya, was a cousin of a family of Reads, who are the oldest shipowners in that port. The family originally belonged to Arbroath, in the same county.

Sunday in England.

The Sunday question—that is, the question whether or not the government has a right to make any form or degree of Sunday observance obligatory—is now so farely before the English people, that it will never cease to be agitated till it is settled in accordance with the people's convictions and wishes.

There is no doubt what those convictions and wishes are. The people of England demand a free Sunday! They demand the right of doing anything on that day which may be lawfully done on any day, leaving every man free to observe the Sunday in the way his concience dictates. They demand that trains may run on Sunday unrestricted; that libraries, museums, and theatres, Chrystal palaces and all other means of improvement, may be lawfully accessible on the only day when nine-tenths of the people have leisure to avail themselves of them.—They demand, in short that the same freedom shall be extended to the proprietors of places of rational enjoyment which is now the privilege of all who derive their subsistence from intoxicating either the bodies or the souls of their fellow men.

The people are certain to gain their point, because they the literary class with them almost to a man. There is scarcely an influential paper in England that is not strong for a free Sunday. The Times, Punch, the Examiner, Household Words, the Leader are all enlisted in the cause, and it is well known that nothing can long withstand the united attacks of the Times, Punch, and Dickens—the joint rulers of the British empire. The last event of the Sunday agitation is the publication of what the Examiner calls "two ably written and excellently-argued volumes," by Sir William Donville, the object of which is to Subject the assumptions of the Sabbatarians to calm and close examination, and to show that they have no foundation either in Scripture, or in reason, or in the circumstances of mankind. This auther does not deny—but strongly believes—that the special devotion one day in seven to the improvment of the soul, the acquisition of knowledge, and the humanizing of the temper, is a salutary practice, and one which ought never to fall into disuse. But he denies the right of government to regulate or enforce such observance, and he exposes the demoralizing nature of that stupid superstition which attaches to the hour of the first day of the week a peculiar and awful sanctity.

Who can estimate the harm which that superstition has done in this country, in giving childhood a disgust of everything sacred, in robbing the people of their weekly holiday, and in excluding them from access to the means of improvement?—Life Illustrated.

☞ The proposal to remove the veil from the midnight lodges, so earnestly made by the Know Nothings of the south, has occasioned a good deal of nervous apprehension in certain quarters. Thousands of men, heretofore proud of their good name, are terror-stricken at the idea of being exposed to the world as parties to a base and exceptionless proscribtion of their neighbors and friends. They begin to feel exactly how much they have made by their investment. By all means, let the curtain roll up, and let the performance begin.

☞ A human foot-print, too perfect in shape and proportions to be doubted, was taken from the Middlesex free-stone quarry, at Portland, Me., last week. It is apparently the footstep of one of the Aborigines, and doubtless one of the primitive tribes, as it exhibits unmistakable evidences of the original moccasin. This specimen was taken at a depth of sixty feet in the rock.—So says an exchange; but we rather guess the geologists would show the foot-print to have been made by some antique creature widely different from the genus homo.

Truisms.—Borrowed garments seldom fit well. Hast often trips up its own heels. Men often blush to hear what they are not ashamed to act. Pride is the flower that grows in the Devil's garden. More are drowned in the wine cup than in the ocean. He who pays too many superfluities may be obliged to sell his necessaries. A man that boards riches and enjoys them not, is lick an ass that carries gold and eats thistles.

☞ Lawyers are very critical, as I once heard a young lawyer inquire, upon being informed of an attachment between a young lady and a gentleman, whether the gentleman was "the lover or the lovee?" So an attorney in Dublin wrote a challenge to a gentleman to meet him 'in the four acres, be the same more or less."

☞ In the days of the patriarchs, a woman's conduct was the index of her heart. When, for instance, the father of Rebecca asked her if she would go with the servant of Isaac, she immediately replied, "I will go." Had she been a daughter of the nineteenth century, she would have answered, "Pshaw! go with him! Why Mr. Issac must be sick! Go with him! of course I won't." And then she would have gone with him.

A Dead shot—The following dialogue occurred between a conductor on one of our Portland Railroads and a passenger a few days since;

Passenger.—Well, Mr. Conductor, what is the political news?

Conductor.—Don't know, sir, for I havn't been to church for the last two Sundays.—Argus.

Practical Abolitionism!—As a rich moral of the passing "political history," we transfer to our columns the following from the New York Herald of Thursday:

A Liberty Party State Convention was held at Utica yesterday. As only about twenty delegates, black and white, attended, we conclude the affair passed off haamonioulo. The following ticket for State officers was nominated.

Secretary of State—Frederick Douglass, (black man.)

Comptroller—Lewis Tappan, (white man.)

Treasurer—James C. Delong, (white man.)

Attorney General—James B Pashan, (black man.)

Canal Commissioner—William Smith, (white man.)

State Prison Inspector—G W Clark, (white man.)

Judges Court of Appeals—B. Green, W. Goodell, (white men.)

A series of resolutions; embracing the peculiar dogmas of this sect of fanatics, was adopted by the convention.

☞ A Reverend gentleman in New York, a few Sabbaths since, seeing a poor woman tottering up one of the aisles in his church, waiting in vain for some one of the congregation to offer her a seat, paused in his sermon, descended from the pulpit, showed her into his own pew, and quietly returned to his desk again.

☞ Western newspapers are having a little fun at the expense of New Hampshire. A person travelling in the State thus writes to a Toledo print: "All along the route I notice great tracts of rocks carefully fenced in, for no other reason I could imagine than to keep the cattle out, and thus prevent their starving to death."

☞ "Will you take something?" said a teetotaler to his friend, while standing near a tavern. "I don't care if I do," was the reply. "Well," said Frank, "let's take a walk."

THE ELECTION.—Next Tuesday is the election, and, as our readers are aware, there are two tickets nominated. One is the democratic ticket nominated by a regular convention of delegates from all the townships, and the other is a mongrel affair got up by a little squad of know nothings and demagogues in this city, and ineffectually attempted to have ratified by a meeting of the people. The meeting, as is well known, was a failure; yet these candidates, thus brought out, are unblushingly called "PEOPLE'S" candidates—as if the people had any thing to do with them

To the democrats all we wish to say is—vote your own ticket; it contains the names of honest, capable men, well qualified to discharge the duties of the several offices to be filled. To the people we would say, if you wish to put down this system of unsurpation, and show this self constituted junto of know nothings and political hacks, that they cannot hoodwink you; and that they have no prescriptive right to force candidates upon you, and say who you shall vote for—it is your duty to vote against the ticket they have forced upon you.

One word more and we have done. There are but few offices to vote for, and some may think it unnecessary to vote. The roads are bad, and many are unable through sickness to attend the polls. The Know Nothings, through the medium of their councils, and by their active organization, will have their entire force at the polls. If then, the democrats stay at home their ticket may be defeated. We therefore urge every democrat to be at his post, and to see that his neighbor votes—assisting him, if necessary, to get to the polls. Do this and we are safe—neglect it, and we may be beat.

Democrats, Look Out.

There will doubtless be attempts made to deceive the voters, and palm off spurious tickets.—We give below a copy of the genuine democratic ticket. Vote this and none else. All others are dangerous counterfeits calculated to deceive the unwary.

Democratic Ticket.

For Judge, 10th Judicial Circuit,

James L. Worden.

Auditor,

Robert Starkweather.

Recorder,

Platt J. Wise.

County Commissioner 3d District,

F. D. Lasselle.

☞ The Times is blackguarding and abusing F. D. Lasselle, our candidate for Co. Commissioner, in its usual billingsgate style. The office must be to increase his vote, for there is no surer passport to public favor than Dawson's abuse. Had he taken half the pains to praise Mr. L. he has to villify him, it would assuredly have defeated him; and he therefore owes a debt of gratitude to Dawson which he ought to discharge promptly and liberally.

THE WEATHER continues shockingly bad and wet. Such a season of continued rain was never before known in this country — and we trust, never may again. The potatoes are rotting in the ground; corn is sprouting on the stalk, and moulding in the shock; and the ground is too wet and weather too unfavorable to allow much progress to be made in plowing or sowing wheat for next year's crop. To this add, that almost every body has the ague, and it will be seen that our farmers are in a most unpleasant dilemma. The air this morning is cool and we have some hopes of a change of weather.

Michigan Southern and Northern Indiana Railroads.—The New York Herald on the 15th, remarks as follows upon the condition and prospects of this road:

"The opening of the Southern Michigan and Northern Indiana Railroad Company in August, showed an increase equal to any of the old established roads in the Western States. It is one of the cheapest roads, for its length, in the country, and can be safely placed among the most permanent ten per cent. railroad stocks. It occupies an important geographical position. Located between two great lakes, there is no competitor route, and as the West increases in population and wealth the traffic of this road must be increased. It being the shortest and most direct route between the Atlantic and the Mississippi, the Eastern and Western travel cannot be diverted. The movements of produce over this line this fall and winter, on its way to seaport markets, must make a very favorable show in the monthly returns. We have always had a high opinion of this road, and have great faith in its future prosperousness.

☞ The Herald is mistaken is saying there is no competitor to this road. The Fort Wayne & Chicago and Ohio & Indiana Railroads, with their eastern connections, will form a shorter and far better line than the Southern Michigan. The Ohio & Indiana is already in operation, and the Fort Wayne & Chicago is rapidly progressing, and will probably be completed in one year from this time. It will then be a serious competitor with the Michigan Southern for the through travel between the East and Chicago; and we believe is destined to be ultimately the great and principal thoroughfare between New York and Philadelphia and Chicago and the North-west. We confidently hope to see more travel over it than there now is over the Michigan Southern. Its connection with the Joliet Cut-off will give travellers on the Rock Island Road an advantage of 50 miles over those who go via Chicago.

VOCAL MUSIC.—Prof. Allen, who gave such great satisfaction as a teacher of singing, during the summer months, purposes opening another class here on the 20th inst. This will be a good opportunity for those who wish to cultivate the voice and acquire proficiency in the delightful science of vocal music.

COL. KINNEY.—The steamer Northern Light brings Col. Kinney's Inaugural Proclamation to the people of San Juan del Norte and its territory—over which, it seems, the Colonel has been elected Governor. What the territory is, or how he has been elected Governor, we have no accounts. It seems rather an odd movement, and we look for further accounts with some interest.

Bullard, Bailey, & Co's French Circus is advertised to exhibit here next Monday week, the 15th inst. They have got out quite an attractive bill and report speaks favorably of their performances. There will, of course, be considerable of a crowd to see the fun.

☞ We should be obliged if some of our subscribers would bring us a few loads of wood and a few bushels of potatoes.

Some Punkins.—We saw an apple the other day, from the garden of Henry C. Hanna, on Washington Street, which though not quite as large as a pumpkin, rather knocked the socks off anything of the apple sort we have seen. It weighs 19½ ounces, and measures 13½ inches in circumference. It is of the Fall Pippin species. If any one has any larger apples than this, they may bring us a sample.

Circus upon a Grand Scale.

Sandy Nathan's, & Co.'s American circus is announced to be here on Wednesday the 17th inst. The universal popularity of these celebrated proprietors, their great resources in their business and the high order of talent they have been accustomed to bring in the field, have usually ensured to them success. We call particular attention to the advertisement of Messrs. Sands, who in order to give full satisfaction has this season engaged a troupe even superior to that of any previous year. While all others are curtailing and contracting, Sands is adding to the interest of his exhibition, by the accumulation of talent and novelty. The celebrated clown Sam Lathrop is attached to this company, as is also the no less celebrated Nathans. Nor is this all: there is a lady, Miss Leaman, who accompanies this troupe, that is said to beat all the foreign Mademoiselles and Signoras in her art. It is even asserted that Miss L. is able to do all the somerset feats on horseback, which no female before her has ever attempted. How she gets along with the gauze and the dimity in these amazonian exploits of course remains to be seen.

Leslie's Gazette of Fusion.—We have received the October number of this universal ladies favorite. In place of writing a notice of it, we transfer the following, from the New York Herald, which speaks our sentiments exactly.

"Frank Leslie's Gazette of Fashion and the Beau Monde.—We have received the October number of "Frank Leslie's Gazette of Fashion and the Beau Monde." There is a noticeable improvement in the style and contents of each number of this magazine over the preceding number, and it now constitutes a really interesting, and—to the ladies at least—a most useful periodical. We remark one new feature in it particularly, which strikes us as a very admirable one. It is that the leading article is devoted to a description of the fashions as they are found in this city—not as they were one, three or six months ago in London or Paris. It is entitled "Our Monthly Review of Fashions and the Industrial Arts," and if we may judge by this article, the subject is one which, if continued to be elucidated so well, will be of the most immediate interest to ladies, in and out of the city, who desire the best and most intelligible information on the prevailing fashion. In the way of prints, the Gazette makes a very creditable appearance, and its selections of reading matter are very apropos."

☞ It is published by Frank Leslie No. 12 Spruce Street, New York, at $3.00 per annum. Single copies, 25 cents, to be had at Hill's Book Store.

INDIVIDUAL MANAGEMENT.
Versus National Management.

John Bull has always prided himself upon his superiority. To use the words of Sam Slick, an Englishman thinks "that when nature formed him she broke the mould: there never was, never can, and never will be another like him."

No country has more reason to be proud of her men of business and enterprising merchants than Great Britain: at the same time no nation has greater need to lament the utter incompetency of her officials, and to deplore the want of energy which seems to prevade every class of the Queens servants. Officials without offices: offices without officials. Let us now take the case of an individual who has earned for himself a world wide fame—we refer to Professor Holloway. Having discovered an effacious remedy for nearly every ill that flesh, is heir to," he has by his own exertions gradually, but surely, disseminated has remidies through every part of the known world. Commencing with London as his central point, he has by dint of perseverance, tact and energy (the sure signs of a master mind), made known his pills and ointment to the very extremes of the compass.—Whether you travel north, east, west, or south, you cannot pick up a newspaper that does not record the successes achieved by this wonderful and indefatigable man. There is no instance on record of any public man having ever approached to such a world-wide celebrity as has Professor Holloway. We speak not of his medicines at present, although we have indubitable reasons for believing that they have been proved by thousands to be invaluable: but one of the enterprise and skill in the system of advertising pursued by Professor Holloway, who has thus by a perfect knowledge of business, and an enlarged view, succeeded where thousands have failed, either from want of judgement or circumscribed means. Take again the Professor's extensive reading-rooms at his establishment in London, why there is not one in the world to be compared to it! With the most regularity and care, every foreign paper that issues from the press is carefully filed: and so complete is the system that the visitor, from amongst this multitudinous mass of literature, can be immediately accommodated with any foreign newspaper he may require, and this, too, gratuously. These reading-rooms, who can thus separate themselves from any matter they may require. So much for individual management.

What a contrast does this present to the plodding routine adopted by the British government. What a slur to the country which produces such men of enterprise, that its affairs of state should be so slovenly performed. Our readers cannot fail to perceive that the foregoing lines do indeed reveal a startling instance of "Individual Management versus National Mis-management" —Phil. Reporter.

Sebastopol.

The Karabelna side being completely in the hands of the allies, they are in a position to undertake operations in the field. Though they will not be able to establish many batteries or many troops in that suburb, on account of the fire from the northern shore of the harbor, they have succeeded in reducing the Russian portion of Sebastopol to less than one half its extent before the 8th inst., and to a fortress capable of holding but a limited number of defenders. Not only is the offensive power of the garrison completely crushed, but its defensive strength is greatly reduced. A far smaller number of men will suffice to carry on the siege, and the troops thus set free, with the reinforcements now on the road or at the camp of Maslake will be available for an expedition to Eupatoria.

From the London Times

The position of Prince Gortschakoff's army, after the main body had effected its retreat across the harbor, was therefore, as follows: His extreme right consisting of the corps most actively engaged in the defence of the place, rests upon the Severnaia work, or Star Fort, and holds the strongly entrenched position on the north shore, where no doubt considerable preparations have been made for this emergency. His centre covers the Belbeck, and is protected in front by the field works thrown up along the ridge of Inkermann. His left wing consists of Liprandi's corps, occupying the ground from Mackenzie's Farm to the hights of Aitodor, on the Bakshiserai road. The struggle for the possession of Sebastopol is at an end. That prize is in our hands, and as the defence of the fortress and the harbor was the grand object of the Russians, they have nothing left on that spot to contend for. The mere occupation on the north side of the port is a barren advantage, for, though it might hold a garrison, it cannot shelter a defeated army. We therefore inter that the northern forts will either be held for a time by a limited garrison, or more probably, altogether abandoned, in the hope of saving the army. Never was an army in a more critical position. They are confined within a peninsula which affords them no other fortified position, no sustenance for the troops, and no water beyond a certain line. The sea, covered with hostile vessels, surrounds three side of this theatre of war, and the fourth is seperated from the Russian base of operation by steppes and marshes. The allied armies already occupy strong positions at Eupatoria and Yenikale, which can be reinforced in a few hours by sea, so as to threaten the Russians in their flanks and rear and while it is impossible for the enemy to hold his ground in the south of the Crimea—for which, indeed, there is now no further object. To retreat in this season accross the country, is a formidable undertaking, while the loss of a battle in an open field would be absolute destruction. The Russians are in a trap: from which the Tchongar road and the isthmus of Perekop are the only means of escape, and even there the communications may possibly be intercepted.

"Foreigners."—In the Disciples of the Methodist Episcopal Church we find [illegible] brief account of the first preaching by ministers of that church in the United States. It says: "In the year 1776, Philip Embury, a local preacher of our society, from Ireland began to preach in the city of New York, and formed a society of his own countrymen and of the citizens. In the same year Thomas Webb preached in a hired room near the barracks. About the same time Robert Strawbridge, a local preacher from Ireland, settled in Frederick county, in the State of Maryland, and, preaching there, formed some societies," &c. It will thus be seen that the first Methodist preachers in the United States were actually Irishmen, and that Irishman formed the first Methodis societies, and established the first Methodist Churches. We hope, however, none of our Methodist K. N. friends will become disgusted and leave their church because its first preachers in the United States were Irishmen and "foreigners." We don't believe the church is any the worse on that account.—New Albany Ledger

Diabolical Outrage.—The Chicago Times of Thursday says:

"Yesterday afternoon a negro, rejoicing in the name of Taylor and a half a dozen aliases, was examined before Esquires Milliken and Lamb, charged with committing a gross and violent outrage upon the person of a young woman, a Bavarian, named Shultz, only recently married. The occurrence took place in the cemetry, in the northern part of the city, and from the evidence adduced appears to have been one of the most famous and diabolical villinies which ever disgraced this Abolition community.

"Mrs. Shultz, who appears to be an amible and respectable young woman, upon being sworn, stated through an interpreter that she went out of her house in the North Division yesterday morning, in company with a young girl, a neighbor, to take a walk along the lake shore to see the effects of a recent storm, and to pick up any drift-wood that have floated to the land. On entering the cemetry she was astonished to see the prisoner coming toward her, using language which she did not understand, and finally accompanied with such conduct as induced her to scream out for aid. The negro, however, offered weat appeared to be a three-dollar bill to appease her fright, accompanied by a gold ring: and finding that these were not sufficient solatium for her to keep quiet, he struck her to the earth by repeated blows, rendering the poor woman entirely insensible. In the meantime the little girl who accompanied Mrs. Shultz was screaming with error, when the black scoundrel made after her and chased her out of the ground. The infuriated villain, after chasing the child from the immediate neighborhood, returned to his insensible victim and committed the hellish villainy of his brutal instinct."

The negro was committed to jail for for final trial.

Fatal Affray in Crittenden County, Arkansas.—A feud has some time existed between the Robinsons and the Stanleys, citizens of Crittenden County, Arkansas. On Saturday last David Stanley was informed that the Robinsons were heard to say that they would kill him; that there was one of them there, that they would waylay his path, and that he should not see the sun go down next day. On Sunday, Stanley, having a double barreled shot gun, went to his hog-pen, 2 miles in the woods, to attend to catching some wild hogs belonging to him and Jesse H. Harris, accompanied by a negro man belonging to Harris. While there, James Robinson, accompanied by ——Lee, both armed with shot-guns, came up to Stanley. As they were approaching him, he said to Robinson—"I understand you have said you intend to kill me." Robinson replied it was "a d——d lie," but at the same time told Stanley to come on and they would settle it. At that Robinson jumped off his horse and advanced on Stanley, who, when he was within a few paces of him, discharged his gun, hitting Robinson in the lower part of the neck and killing him instantly.

The Boundary Commission.—Major EMORY, with his assistants, have completed the survey of the boundary line between the United States and Mexico, and all of them much rejoices that they have ended their labors so inhospitable a desert. There is some doubt, after all this immense outlay of skill, labor and expense, whether the lines as determined by our Commissioner, will be accredited and recognized. It seems that the treaty stipulates "the line to be run enjointly by Commissioners of the two countries," but the Mexican Commissioner has never acted. On his journey he had his mules and traveling equipage stolen from him and, subsequently, he was arrested by the order of SANTA ANNA; at all events, he never acted enjointly with Major EMORY. The line is run, and, doubtless, with accuracy, but whether lawfully or not is another question.

Great Rejoicing in Canada.—Upon receipt of the news of the fall of Sevastopol, the people of Toronto lighted bonfires, fired off guns and rockets, amid the greatest excitement. At Stafford the Court was in session when the news was received; it was read by the Judge from the bench, amid loud cheering; and flags were flying everywhere through the town. At London, bells were rung, cannon fired, and a parade of the firemen through the streets with bands of music.

Express Robbery—$50,000 Stolen!—Two boxes containing fifty thousand dollars in gold were stolen from Wells, Butterfield & Co. express, while in transmission from Dubuque, Iowa, to New York.

The money belonged to the U. S. sub-treasury and its delivery was contracted by Adams & Co., who employed W. B. & Co's for the purpose.

On the arrival in New York the two boxes supposed to contain the gold, were found to be filled with bullets.

New Counterfeit.—Bank of Geauga, Painesville, Ohio, 2's, vignette male and female figure of agriculture seated on either side of an oval containing figure "2" female head and figure 2 on each end, ship between signature, dated Nov. 18, 1854. Painesville is spelt without the "e" in some of them.—Engraving poor, paper thick and white. We think this bank issues no 2's.

☞ Look out for them. They are in circulation here.

☞ English papers express the opinion, founded on careful examination, that Great Britain will only require an importation of 30,000,000 bushels of wheat to supply every possible deficiency. Three or four Western States could furnish the whole amount from their surplus stock.

WORCESTER, Oct. 2.

The Whig State Convention assembled here to-day. About 800 delegates were present. Hon. J. F. Stevenson, of Boston presided, and made a speech against fusion. Letters were read from Hon. R. C Winthrop, Hon. Rufus Choate and other in opposition to fusion.

The resolutions declare that the whig party should now more than ever keep aloof from entangling alliances. That they are now as ever the party of the Constitution. That the pending election is a state matter, and we repudiate the personal liberty bill, and advocate its repeal. That the present liquor law is a failure, and that we go for a law constitutional, and that will promote the cause of temperance. That we are opposed to the organization of a northern sectional party on a single issue of opposition to slavery.

Hon. Samuel H. Walley of Roxbury was nominated for Governor, Moses Davenport of Newburyport, who declined the liberty party nomination, For Governor, Lieut. Gov.

W. Davis of Greenfield was nominated for Secretary of State. Jno. Mitchell of New Bedford for Auditor.

Mr. Choate said that the word party of fusion was use in a wrong sense, that the whigs would not join any party who would not keep step with the music.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 2.

Abatement of Yellow Fever.—The deaths in this city on Saturday were 4, Sunday 7 and 3 deaths. In Portsmouth on Saturday 14, Sunday 9 with but few new cases. 54 doctors and nurses from other places have returned home.—The wife and daughter of Judge Taney died on Sunday.

Railroad Accident.—On Saturday last the morning train on the Indianapolis and Cincinnati Railroad was thrown from the track about 4 miles beyond Lawrenceburg. The accident was occasioned by the breaking of of one of the track wheels of the engine. The cars were thrown down an embankment of about eight feet, and turned over on the side, but without damaging them materially, save breaking the windows on one side. Many of the passengers were slightly bruised, but none seriously injured. The train was running at its usual speed at the time of the accident.

FOREIGN NEWS.

From the Monitear, Sept 8.

Another Attempt to Assassinate the Emperor of the French.

His Majesty, the Emperor, attended a representation at the Italian Opera last night.

At the moment the carriage in which were the Ladies of Honor of Her Majesty, the Empress stopped in front of the theatre, an individual standing on the foot pavement opposite, fired, without taking aim, two small pocket pistols at the carriage.

No one was hit. This person, who appears to be a maniac rather than an assassian, was immediately arrested.

The name of the individual arrested is Bellemarre. He is about 32 years of age, and was born at Rouen. When he was 16 he was sentenced to two years imprisonment for swindling.

His antecedents, his language, his attitude after his arrest and during his examination, shows that he really is a maniac. He had taken up a position at the entrance of the Rue Marsollier on the foot pavement opposite to the entrance to the theatre, and he fired his two pistols at the moment when the cries of "Vive l'Empereur" made him fancy that the carriage which conveyed the Ladies of Honor of the Empress was that of His Majesty. A city policeman on duty, at this point, immediately pulled down the assassin's arm and captured him at once.

Bellemarre was first taken to the Police office at the Italian Theatre, and at once, M. Pietri, Prefect of Police, presiding, a first statement was drawn up by the Commissary of Police of the District. The assassin is locked up in a cell at the Conciergerie, where he is undergoing an examination. The investigation continues.

As Majesty, the Emperor, on his entrance into the Theatre, where the news of this criminal attempt was immediately known, was greeted with shouts of "Vive l'Empereur!" and by rounds of applause, which were renewed at intervals.

His Majesty only remained about one hour at the Theatre, and then proceeded to the Palace of the Tuilleries.

Arrival of the Pacific.

NEW YORK, Oct. 3d.

The Pacific arrived off Sandy Hook at 7 o'clock last evening. The night was so dark that she was not seen.

Her dates are to the 22d ult. Dispatches from Gen. Simpson from the seat of war had been received by the government describing the assault and capture of the Malakoff. He says:

That at 12 o'clock on the morning of the 8th, the French columns under Gens. Bosquet, McMahn and De Lamott Rogue, entered and carried the Malakoff with a most impetuous valor.

The British columns stormed the Redan, but after a bloody combat could not hold it. The 2d assault could not be organized until the next A. M, when the Redan was forced to be evacuated.

The loss of life has been frightful, particularly among the officers.

Gen. Pellissier's dispatches had not arrived. The retreat of the Russians to the Perekop is contradicted. It was assured that they would be unable to hold the north of Sevastopol for the want of provisions.

Nothing definite was known in regard to the next movement of the allies.

4,000 cannon, 50,000 balls, and immense quantities of stores, were taken possession of by the allies.

SEVASTOPOL.—The Czar Alexander in his address to his army says: I rely confidently on your courage to repel all future attacks; and in a letter to the King of Prussia says, he will accept, no conditions of peace derogatory to Russia.

The Czar, in company with three Grand Dukes has signified his intention of visiting the Crimea.

The Emperor of Austria had congratulated Victoria and Napoleon on the victory of the allies.

There was more talk of negotiations. The latest was that Austria was willing to take work of mediating at Vienna and France at Paris.

It was reported that Russia had undertaken the work of mediation between Denmark and U. S. on the sound dues.

Another dispatch from Varna says a detachment of French troops who entered Varna on the 14th found the streets full of Russians and barricades thrown up.

Holloway's Ointment and Pills, a wonderful Cure of Ulcers in the Leg.—Frederick Hiff, of Houston, Texas, was afflicted for eight years with seven ulcers in the leg, like the keys of a flute, which discharged continuously and rendered his life one of the greatest wretchedness and misery; many remedies were tried in vain, he became worse, at last he had recourse to Halloway's Ointment and Pills, and by preserving with these remedies in accordance with the printed directions for nine weeks, he was radically cured, and is now able to walk better than ever he was in his life.

From the "Home Journal," New York.

"No article ever acquired so rapid celebrity, and universal popularity as Lyon's Kathairon. To those who have used it, (and who has it?) the reason is obvious, as if not only beautifies the Hair, but preserves and restores it at an advanced age of life. Its perfume and agreeable enlivening effects should stamp it an indispensible article of the toilet." The above is but one of thousands of similar commendations—it stands unrivalled as a to let article. Be sure and ask for Lyon's Kathairon, as its unparalleled popularity has caused several unprincipled persons to put up valueless imitations, which they call by somewhat similar names. Sold everywhere in large bottles, for only 25 cents.

☞ It should be universaly known, for it is strictly true, that Indigestion is the parent of a large portion of the fatal diseases. Dyspepsia, Diarrœa, Cholera Morbus, Liver Complaint, and many other diseases enumerated in our City Inspector's weekly catalogue of death, are generally the result of Indigestion. Think of this all who suffer from disordered stomachs, and if you are willing to be guided by advice found upon experience, resort at once to the use of Dr J. HOSTETTER'S Stomach Bitters which, as a curvative and invigorant, stand alone unapproached. For sale by druggists.

Prof. Wood's Hair Restorative.

We invite special attention to the advertisement of this article in another column of our paper. It has now been a little less than two years before the public, and yet it has become from its intrinsic merit a standard article upon the shelves of almost all druggists, and the Chester Herald says: "It now stands at the head of all remedies of the kind." Nor is this result at all surprising when it is remembered that distinguished statesmen, as well as many members of the medical profession, indeed ladies and gentlemen of the highest intelligence, in all parts of the country, testify that it has and will restore the hair over the head of the bald, remove all dandruff and itching, and all diseases of the scalp; and more than all, preserve the hair, if used for toilet purposes, both in color and from falling ou to any imaginable age. Reader try it. Call and procure one of the circulars from the Agent, and we think you cannot doubt.—See also the advertisement.

EIGHT HORSE SEPARATOR.

I HAVE greatly extended my arrangements for the manufacture of my improved Machine, to which has been awarded the first premiums at the World's Fair Exhibition, New York, 1853, the State Fairs of Onio, 1853-4, and all other places where it has been exhibited in the United States and Europe. By many practical tests with the best machines in use, it has invariably proven superior in all essential points. I have made many valuable improvements during the last year, and have no hesitation in warranting my machines superior to any in use.

A FEW SHORT EXTRACTS FROM LETTERS, TESTIMONIALS, ETC.

"I have used Jacob's Cordial in my family, and have found it a most efficient, and in my judgment, a valuable remedy."
Hon. HIRAM WARNER, Judge of Supreme Court, Ga.

"It gives me pleasure in being able to recommend Jacob's Cordial—my own personal experience, and the experience of my neighbors and friends around me, is a sufficient guarantee for me to believe it to be all that it purports to be, viz: a sovereign remedy."
WM. H. UNDERWOOD.

A. A. GAULDING, Deputy G. M. of the Grand Lodge of Georgia.

"I have used "Jacob's Cordial in my family, and this, with all I hear about it as a remedy by those who have tried it, induces me to believe that it stands at the head of every preparation of the kind, and I would recommend its use in the diseases for which it is composed. MILES G. DOBBINS, Cashier of the Bank of the State of Georgia, Griffin.

"If there is any credibility in human testimony, 'Jacob's Cordial' must stand pre-eminent above all other preparations for the cure of Bowel Diseases. From the mass of testimony in its favor coming in from all quarters, it must be very far in advance, as a curative agent, of most if not all other 'patent' preparations."
A. FLEMING, Cashier Marine and Fire Insurance Bank, Griffin

"This efficient remedy is travelling into celebrity as fast as Bonaparte pushed his columns into Russia, and gaining commendation wherever used. [Georgia Jeffersonian, May 19, 1853.

Prof. Wood's Hair Restorative.

WE call the attention of all, old and young, to this wonderful preparation, which turns back to its original color gray hair, covers the head of the bald with a luxurious growth, removes the dandruff, itching, and all cutaneous eruptions, causes a continual flow of the natural fluids, and hence, is used as a regular dressing to the hair, will preserve its color and keep it from faling to extreme old age, in all its natural beauty. We call then upon the bald, the gray, or diseased scalp to use it; and surely the young will not, as they value the flowing locks, or the witching curl, ever be without it. Its praise is upon the tongue of thousands.

THE Works of the Company have now so far progressed that their completion by the first day of October is a fixed fact. To facilitate the lightning of the city, it is highly important that those who desire their buildings lighted should give early notice. Composition Cement Roofing.

THE subscriber has made arrangement and procured the necessary materials for covering buildings with the popular Composition and Gravel Roofing. This system of Roofing has given universal satisfaction wherever it has been introduced, and is rapidly supercceding all others. Its great advantages of durability, cheapness, tightness, and perfect safety from fire recommend it to all persons erecting good buildings. Though fully equal to tin in every respect, the cost is less than one half—but little more in fact than pine shingles.

SMUT MACHINES.

LULL'S Patent, French Burr, Smut Machines, used in 600 of the best Mills in the West; they run light, clean fast and well, are very durable and are warranted to give satisfaction. When they become smooth, the edge can be perfectly renewed, in 2 or 3 hours, by the Miller cracking the Burr, whereas when an Iron Smut Mill becomes smooth, it is rendered useless, and must be thrown aside.

We refer here to only a few Millers who are using the Burr Machine; viz: N. Hull, Lafayette; W. D. Hibbert, Vincennes; Peter King, R. Cisna, Wabash; Fallis and Shidle, Attica; Shrewsbury and Price, Madison; Searight & Bro's, Cass Co.; F. McHarry, New Albany, Ind.; J. M. Findly, Niles, Michiuan.

We also annex a certificate from the proprietors of the Pittsburgh City Mills, one of the largest and best mills in the West, and for particulars refer to our handbills.

REAL PREMIUM DAGUERREOTYPES.

"Sweet copy, far more dear to me,
Lifeless, unfeeling as thou art.
Than all the living forms could be,
Save her who placed thee next my heart."

Mr. A. McDONALD returns his sincere thanks to the citizens of Fort Wayne and vicinity for their liberal patronage, and respectfully invites them to call, examine specimens of his pictures, and see the perfection to which the Daguerrean art has arrived.

His Pictures exhibited at the late State Fair, at Lafayette, were universally admitted to be far superior to any collection of pictures there, for which he was awarded a Premium and Diploma.

Those who want perfect copies of themselves or friends are respectfully invited to call and see the

We, the undersigned, who attended the late State Fair at La Fayette, take pleasure in certifying that Mr. A. McDonald's Daguerreotypes were universally admitted (so far as we heard any expression) to be far superior to any exhibited at the Fair.

Fruits of Know Nothingism.

The following article from the Detroit Tribune shows clearly the effect of the present crusade against foreigners upon the interest of the North West:

"We have from the Department of the Secretary of State, at Washington, the subjoined official returns of immigration passengers during the first half of 1855, compared with the first half of 1854:

	First Quarter		Second Quarter		Total.
	1854.	1855.	1854.	1855.	1854.	1855.
Boston	1,291	1,241	3,601	5,216	10,416	6,457
New York	59,029	19,317	119,868	50,184	144,897	69,501
Philadelphia	1,439	574	5,189	1,119	7,241	1,693
Baltimore	999	1,013	4,999	1,991	5,998	3,004
N. Orleans	14,951	7,173	14,168	5,251	29,119	12,424
Total	77,670	29,318	147,825	63,761	197,495	93,079

"These returns show a heavy decrease. "The present lags behind last year largely, says the statistics of the State Department, "there being a decrease in 1855 of ninety two thousand seven hundred and thirty." New York suffers most.—The decrease there for the second quarter of the half year, was 70 231.

"Money-wise there is, of course, a heavy falling off. The official calculation is, that the immigrants average sixty-five dollars per head. The loss in hard cash, therefore, is six Million thirty thousand nine hundred and sixty dollars, ($6,030,960.) Of this New York and the West lose the largest. It is calculated that the States of the North-west would receive out of this amount over a million and half of that."

"The shippers, railroad men, builders, land sellers, &c., &c., at the seat board are somewhat excited over this return, and it cannot fail to produce it effects on the West, which would have received the largest share of the labor and capital if the tide of immigration had not been stayed. If the loss had been caused by any legitimate or necessary cause, neither would complain; but created as it has been by an exclusive and class policy, both feel, and will do what they can to remove it. The South gets but little from this movement, and therefore does not complain; but New England receives only a small share of it and is indifferent; but New York, and especially the Mid West, and the Western States being the chief recipients of this large addition to their moral and material growth, in their natural wealth and power, and in the most need of it must consider and act upon it."

Making a Sea of the Arabian Desert—Captain William Allan, of the British navy, has published a book advocating the conversion of the Arabian desert into an ocean. The author believes that the great valley extending from the southern depression of the Lebanon range to the head of the Gulf of Akaba, the eastern branch of the head of the Red Sea, has been once an ocean. It is in many places 1,500 feet below the level of the Mediterranean, and in it are situated the Dead Sea and the Sea of Tiberias. He believes that this ocean, being cut off from the Red Sea by the rise of the land at the southern extremity, and being only fed by small streams, gradually became dried up by solar evaporation. He proposes to cut a canal of adequate size from the head of the Gulf of Akaba to the Dead Sea, and another from the Mediterranean, near Mount Carmel, across the plain Esdraelon, to the Jordan in the mountain ranges of Lebanon. By this means, the Mediterranean would rush in, with a fall of 1,300 square miles in extent for a barren, useless desert; thus making the navigation to India as short as the overland route, spreading fertility over a new arid country, and opening up the fertile regions of Palestine to settlement and cultivation.

The conception is a magnificient one, but no sufficient survey has been made to determine its practicability or its cost.

Ring on the fourth Finger.—The idea of wearing rings on the fourth finger of the left hand, because of a supposed artery there which went to the heart, was carried so far that, according to Aulus Lemnius, this finger was called Medicus, and the old physicians would stir up their medicaments and potions with it, because no venom could stick upon the very outmost part of it but it will offend a man and communicate itself to the heart. It is said by Swinburn and others, that, therefore, it became the wedding finger. The priesthood kept up this idea by still keeping it as the wedding finger; but it was got at through the use of the Trinity, for in the ancient ritual of English marriages, the ring was placed by the husband on the top of the thumb of the left hand, with the words, "In the name of the Father;" he then removed it to the forefinger, saying, "In the name of the Son;" then the middle finger, saying "And of the Holy Ghost; finally, he left it ring "And of the Holy Ghost; finally, he left it on now, on the fourth finger, with the final and closing word "Amen."—Edward's History and Poetry of Finger Rings.

Large Steamer.—The Metropolis a mammoth steamer for Long Island Sound, is just completed in New York. The journal of Commerce says, "her engine 2,000 horse power, and built after her most approved designs, at the Novelty Iron Works, in this city. She has four boilers and eight furnaces, and is fitted with vertical brass tubes like those of our ocean steamers. Perhaps the most extraordinary part of her gigantic machinery is the cylinder; it is 105 inches in diameter, with a twelve feet stroke. Many amusing illustrations of its size were given before it left the place of manufacture. At first a force it left the place of manufacture. At first a party of 22 persons dined in it! Then a horse and buggy were driven through it; and to test its almost capacity, as many men were called in to stand in it as could find a convenient foothold, upon counting the heads of this party it was found that they numbered 105! This immense size gives it a large increase of power with a moderate pressure of steam; the working guage being 25 pounds to the square inch. The cost of the hull is $260,000, and her speed it is thought, will exceed twenty miles an hour."

Unattributed Depravity.—Last Saturday afternoon, while Mr. Jacob Thechler was attending the funeral of his child, in the German settlement, some villain set fire to his house and burned it to the ground, with all its contents. The scoundrel, not satisfied with the bereavement of the sorrowing father and mother's grief by destroying their home. Mr. T. is a quiet inoffensive man, and never gave any one cause to perpetrate such an infernal deed. He is a poor man, been married a little over a year, and in one day his darling child, his home and all been swept away from him.

The Moral of Fruit Stealing.

Judging from the universal laxity of morals on the subject of fruit stealing, prevalent in almost all parts of the country, it would seem that the injunction, "thou shalt not steal," was generally understood not to have any application to the various articles of property included under the general name of fruit. Parents who would shrink from the thought that a son had been guilty of stealing a shilling's worth of goods from a neighboring store, as from the icy coils of a deadly serpent, too often look with stolid indifference on the perpetration of a robbery of a fruit orchard to the amount of five or ten dollars.

In other cases, the idea of disgrace is always connected with the act, as it should be; while in the case of fruit stealing, it is not so, but is only looked upon as a piece of innocent if not praiseworthy amusement. But let us give the subject a little examination, and see if we should not give the fruit-thief quite as an indelible a stamp of infamy as we do the person who is guilty of stealing any other sort of property. A plants a half dozen choice pear trees, and stakes them, and prunes and nurses them for eight or ten years, all on the strength of the hope of enjoying their delicious fruit when they come into bearing. And at last he has the satisfaction of seeing a few fine specimens of fruit growing, and finally ripening on each of them—he goes out one morning to see if some of them may not be ripe enough to gather, and judge of his disappointment, you who wink at fruit-stealing, when he discovers that a thief has got the start of him—that they have all been stolen the previous night.

Now, supposing the intrinsic value of the fruit thus stolen does not exceed one dollar, does the render think for a moment that that is the extent of the injury to the person losing them? By no means; for A. would have preferred that five dollars worth of grain had been stolen from his granary—and why? simply because he had waited so long; for them to grow, had watched their growth with so much interest, and had confidently expected (so he had a right to expect) to gather them for his own use. Indeed the more money value of the fruit in the market is not the full extent of the loss he has sustained. His disappointment and vexation are not included in this; nor the thought that in spite of his utmost vigilance in future, he has no reliable guaranty against a like misfortune the next season—for growing fruit cannot be locked up and protected with the ease that most kinds of property can.

So utterly at fault is public sentiment on this subject, that many who have had depredations committed upon their fruit, hesitate to prosecute the offenders when discovered, feeling that such a proceeding will hardly be sanctioned by the community. Now we submit that this is all wrong—that there is no good reason why the fruit thief who prowls about in the night, when honest people are asleep, for the purpose of plundering fruit orchards, should not be held up to the scorn and contempt of the community, and placed in the same category as the sheep-thief, the robber of hen coops and the burglar.

There is a great need of a change in public sentiment, in respect to this matter. The evil is so prevalent in most sections of the country, as to deter many from attempting to cultivate fruit to anything like the extent they otherwise would. Let the press, especially the agricultural press, speak out fearlessly on this subject, and let all good citizens frown down the idea, altogether too prevalent in community, that "it is not larceny to steal fruit." In our opinion, the remedy for this evil is the keeping of the respectable portion of community, to a very great extent; for just so soon as the robber of henroosts is the fruit on the trees will become as secure as are the pullets on the roost—and not before.—Ohio Farmer.

Sevastopol Not to be Taken.—We learn that letters were received by the Baltic, to the effect that three American officers—Messrs. Beauvelle, Monmouth, and McClellan—who went to Sevastopol some time ago to inspect the works, have performed that duty, and are now at Vienna on their return, where they are awaiting an order from the French Government to permit them to visit the allied works before the walls of Sevastopol. The French Government has consented, and they will leave Vienna, for Varna and Sevastopol in a day or two. Two of the American surgeons who have been in the service of Russia, have just left Sevastopol, and are now in this city. The opinion of all these gentlemen is that Sevastopol cannot be taken, and now in the Crimea, for it will have to be taken in a perfect sea of human blood.

☞ These gentlemen were not as good prophets or not so profoundly versed in military science as they thought themselves to be; since the very next arrival from Europe announced that Sevastopol was actually taken.

☞ Some of the fair sex don't believe they were made for the special happiness of the race, and therefore direct their lives without any reference to anybody's likes or dislike. To such the following piece of advice has no meaning; but to those women who think their life is to harmonize and blend with man's—whose ambition is to make loving and loved wives, it has a sug gestive word:

Heaven knows how many simple letters, from simple minded women, have been kissed, cherished and wept over by men of far loftier intellect. So it will always be to the end of time. It is a lesson worth learning, by those young creatures who seek to allure by their accomplishments, or dazzle by their genius, that thought be may admire, no man ever loves a woman for those things. He loves her for what is essentially distinct from, thought not incompatable with them—her woman's nature and woman's heart. This is why we so often see a man of high genius or intellectual power, passing by the Do Staels and Corinnes, to take to his bosom some wayside flower, who has nothing on earth to make her worthy of him, except that she is—what so few of your "female celebrities" are, a—true woman.

Ascalon of Governor Wise.—Before his election the K. N. papers were fond of publishing anecdotes to show how Wise was "put down" upon the stump, by interruption from "Sam," in the vast assemblages which were wont to gather around the hustings of the Orator of Accomac. At one of these meetings in Western Virginia, two of "Sammy's" fattest young men had been more than usually noisy and insolent towards the speaker, and their interruptions were plainly intended to annoy and insult him. Wise pansed in his speech, and turning to these "bloods" pointed his long skinny finger, a la Randolph, at the offenders, and said—"Young men! I am to be your next Governor; you will probably be in the penitentiary; and you may depend upon it you will have to serve out your time!" He wasn't interrupted again in that quarter.

McKenzie, whose name became so widely known during the patriot struggles in Canada, recently attempted to lecture at Brampton, Canada, but was pelted with rotten eggs and was obliged to hid himself to escape from the unsavory missiles.

The Montreal Standard says that the deceased General Read, who fell at the head of the Russian troops, in the battly of the Tchernaya, was a cousin of a family of Reads, who are the oldest shipowners in that port. The family originally belonged to Arbroath, in the same county.

Sunday in England.

The Sunday question—that is, the question whether or not the government has a right to make any form or degree of Sunday observance obligatory—is now as fairly before the English people, that it will never cease to be agitated till it is settled in accordance with the people's convictions and wishes.

There is no doubt what those convictions and wishes are. The people of England demand a free Sunday! They demand the right of doing anything on that day which may be lawfully done on any day, leaving every man free to observe the Sunday in the way his conscience dictates. They demand that trains may run on Sunday unrestricted; that libraries, museums, and theatres, Chrystal palaces and all other means of improvement, may be lawfully accessible on the only day when nine-tenths of the people have leisure to avail themselves of them.—They demand, in short that the same freedom shall be extended to the proprietors of places of rational enjoyment which is now the privilege of all who derive their subsistence from intoxicating either the bodies or the souls of their fellow men.

The people are certain to gain their point, because they the literary class with them almost to a man. There is scarcely an influential paper in England that is not strong for a free Sunday. The Times, Punch, the Examiner, Household Words, the Leader are all enlisted in the cause, and it is well known that nothing can long withstand the united attacks of the Times, Punch, and Dickens—the joint rulers of the British empire. The last event of the Sunday agitation is the publication of what the Examiner calls "an ably written and excellently-argued volume," by Sir William Domville, the object of which is to subject the assumptions of the Sabbatarians to calm and close examination, and to show that they have no foundation either in Scripture, or in reason, or in the circumstances of mankind. This author does not deny—but strongly believes—that the special devotion one day in seven to the improvement of the soul, the acquisition of knowledge, and the humanizing of the temper, is a salutary practice, and one which ought never to fall into disuse. But he denies the right of government to regulate or enforce such observance, and he exposes the demoralizing nature of that stupid superstition which attaches to the hour of the first day of the week a peculiar and awful sanctity.

Who can estimate the harm which that superstition has done in this country, in giving childhood a disgust of everything sacred, in robbing the people of their weekly holiday, and in excluding them from access to the means of improvement?—Life Illustrated.

☞ The proposal to remove the veil from the midnight lodges, so earnestly made by the Know Nothings of the south, has occasioned a good deal of nervous apprehension in certain quarters. Thousands of men, heretofore proud of their good name, are terror-stricken at the idea of being exposed to the world as parties to a base and exceptionless proscribition of their neighbors and friends. They begin to feel exactly how much they have made by their investment. By all means, let the curtain roll up, and let the performance begin.

☞ A human foot-print, too perfect in shape and proportions to be doubted, was taken from the Middlesex free-stone quarry, at Portland Me., last week. It is apparently the footstep of one of the Aborigines, and doubtless one of the primitive tribes, as it exhibits unmistakable evidences of the original ancestor. This specimen was taken at a depth of sixty feet in the rock.—So says an exchange; but we rather guess the geologists would show the foot-print to have been made by some antique creature widely different from the genus homo.

Truisms.—Borrowed garments seldom fit well. Hasty clothes trips up its own heels. Men often blush to hear what they are not ashamed to act. Pride is the flower that grows in the Devil's garden. More are drowned in the wine cup than in the ocean. He who pays too many superfluities may be obliged to sell his necessaries. A man that hoards riches and enjoys them not, is like an ass that carries gold and eats thistles.

☞ Lawyers are very critical, as I once heard a young lawyer inquire, upon being informed of an attachment between a young lady and a gentleman, whether the gentleman was "the lover or the lovee?" So an attorney in Dublin wrote a challenge to a gentleman to meet him "in the four acres, be the same more or less."

☞ In the days of the patriarchs, a woman's conduct was the index of her heart. When, for instance, the father of Rebecca asked her if she would go with the servant of Isaac, she immediately replied, "I will go." That she was a daughter of the nineteenth century, she would have answered, "Pshaw! go with him! Why Mr. Issac must be sick! Go with him! of course I won't." And then she would have gone with him.

A Dead shot.—The following dialogue occurred between a conductor on one of our Portland Railroads and a passenger a few days since;

Passenger.—Well, Mr. Conductor, what is the political news?

Conductor.—Don't know, sir, for I haven't been to church for the last two Sundays.—Argus.

Practical Abolitionism!—As a rich moral of the passing "political history," we transfer to our columns, the following from the New York Herald of Thursday:

"The Liberty Party State Convention was held at Utica yesterday. As only about twenty delegates, black and white, attended, we conclude the affair passed off harmoniously. The following ticket for State officers was nominated.

Secretary of State—Frederick Douglass (black man.)

Comptroller—Lewis Tappan, (white man.)

Treasurer—James C. Delong, (white man.)

Attorney General—James B Pashan, (black man.)

Canal Commissioner—William Smith, (white man.)

State Prison Inspector—G W Clark, (white man.)

Judges Court of Appeals—B Green, W. Goodell, (white men.)

A series of resolutions; embracing the peculiar dogmas of this sect of fanatics, was adopted by the convention.

☞ A Reverend gentleman in New York, a few Sabbaths since, seeing a poor woman tottering up one of the aisles in his church, waiting in vain for some one of the congregation to offer her a seat, paused in his sermon, descended from the pulpit, showed her into his own pew, and quietly returned to his desk again.

☞ Western newspapers are having a little fun at the expense of New Hampshire. A person travelling in the State thus writes to a Toledo print: "All along the road I notice great tracts of rocks carefully fenced in, for no other reason I could imagine than to keep the cattle out, and thus prevent their starving to death."

☞ "Will you take something?" said a tosspot to his friend, while standing near a tavern. "I don't care if I do," was the reply. "Well," said Frank, "let's take a walk."

Great Discovery.—The scientific curious who wish to see the incipient stages of one of those great incantions that mark an era, are invited to visit the establishment of Mr. A. E. Parsons, on Sixth Street, who has recently purchased the right for this and other counties to manufacture Foster's Artificial Granite. This granite is made of common sand, mixed with slacked lime in the proportions of ten to one, and subjected to a pressure of one hundered tons or more in a smooth steel mold. The mass thus formed is then suffered gradually to harden by the absorption

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 6, 1855.

THE ELECTION.—Next Tuesday is the election, and, as our readers are aware, there are two tickets nominated. One is the democratic ticket nominated by a regular convention of delegates from all the townships, and the other is a mongrel affair got up by a little squad of know nothings and demagogues in this city, and ineffectually attempted to have ratified by a mass-ing of the people. The meeting, as is well known, was a failure; yet these candidates, thus brought out, are nobbled by called "reformers" and claim—as if the people had any thing to do with them

To the democrats all we wish to say is—vote your own ticket; it contains the names of honest republican men, well qualified to discharge the duties of the several offices to be filled. To the people we would say, if you wish to put down this system of usurpation, and show this self-constituted junto of nothings and political hucks, that they cannot bondwink you, and that they have no prescriptive right to force candidates upon you, and say who you shall or shall not vote for—if you duly vote against the ticket they have forced upon you.

One word more and we have done. There are but few officers to vote for, and some may think it unnecessary to vote. The roads are bad, and many are unable through sickness to attend the polls. The Know Nothings, through the medium of their councils, and by their active organization, will have their entire force at the polls. If then, the democrats stay at home their ticket may be defeated. We therefore urge every democrat to be at his post, and to see that his neighbor votes—assisting him, if necessary, to get to the polls. Do this and we are safe—neglect it, and we may be beat.

Democrats, Look Out.

There will doubtless be attempts made to deceive the voters, and palm off spurious tickets—We give below a copy of the genuine democratic ticket. Vote this and none else. All others are dangerous counterfeits calculated to deceive the unwary.

Democratic Ticket.

For Judge, 10th Judicial Circuit,

James L. Worden.

Auditor,

Robert Starkweather.

Recorder,

Platt J. Wise.

County Commissioner 3d District,

F. D. Lasselle.

☞ The Times is blackguarding and abusing F. D. Lasselle, our candidate for Co. Commissioner, in his usual billingsgate style. The effort must be to increase his vote, for there is no surer passport to public favor than Dawson's abuse. Had he taken half the pains to praise Mr. L. he has to vilify him, it would assuredly have defeated him; and he therefore owes a debt of gratitude to Dawson which he ought to discharge promptly and liberally.

THE WEATHER continues shockingly bad and wet. Such a season of continued rain was never before known in this country—and we trust, never may again. The potatoes are rotting in the ground; corn is sprouting on the stalk, and moulding in the shock; and the ground is too wet and weather too unfavorable to allow much progress to be made in plowing or sowing wheat for next year's crop. To this add, that almost every body has the ague, and it will be seen that our farmers are in a most unpleasant and dilemma. The air this morning is cool and we have some hopes of a change of weather.

Michigan Southern and Northern Indiana Railroad.—The New York Herald on the 14th remarks as follows upon the condition and prospects of this road:

"The earning of the Southern Michigan and Northern Indiana Railroad Company in August, show an increase equal to any of the old established roads in the Western States. It is one of the cheapest roads, for its length, in the country, and can be safely placed among the most permanent ten per cent. railroad stocks. It occupies an important geographical position. Lowest between two great lakes, there is no competitor route, and as the West increases in population and wealth the traffic of this road must be immense. It being the lowest and most direct route between the Atlantic and the Mississippi the Eastern and Western travel cannot be diverted. The movements of produce over this line this Fall and winter, on its way to seaport markets, must make a very favorable show in the monthly returns. We have always had a high opinion of this road, and have great faith in its future productiveness.

☞ The Herald is mistaken in saying there is no competitor to this road. The Fort Wayne & Chicago and Ohio & Indiana Railroads, with their eastern connections, will form a shorter and far better line than the Southern Michigan. The Ohio & Indiana is already in operation, and the Fort Wayne & Chicago is rapidly progressing, and will probably be completed in one year from this time. It will then be a serious competitor with the Michigan Southern for the through travel between the East and Chicago; and we believe is destined to be ultimately the great and principal thoroughfare between New York and Philadelphia and Chicago and the North-west. We confidently hope to see more travel over it than there now is over the Michigan Southern. Its connection with the Joliet Cut-off will give travellers on the Rock Island Road an advantage of 50 miles over those who go via Chicago.

VOCAL MUSIC.—Prof. Allen, who gave such great satisfaction as a teacher of singing, during the summer months, purposes opening another class here on the 20th inst. This will be a good opportunity for those who wish to cultivate the voice and acquire proficiency in the delightful science of vocal music.

COL. KINNEY.—The steamer Northern Light brings Col. Kinney's Inaugural Proclamation to the people of San Juan del Norte and its territory—over which, it seems, the Colonel has been elected Governor. What the territory is, or how he has been elected Governor, we have no accounts. It seems rather an odd movement, and we look for further accounts with some interest.

Ballard, Bailey, & Co's French Circus is announced to exhibit here next Monday week, the 15th inst. They have got out quite an attractive bill and report speaks favorably of their performances. There will, of course, be considerable of a crowd to see the fun.

☞ We should be obliged if some of our subscribers would bring us a few loads of wood and a few bushels of potatoes.

Some Punkins.—We saw an apple the other day, from the garden of Henry C. Hanna, on Washington Street, which though not quite as large as a pumpkin, rather knocked the cooks off anything of the apple sort we have seen. It weighs 19½ ounces, and measures 13¼ inches in circumference. It is of the Fall Pippin species. Many one has any larger apples than this, they may bring us a sample.

Circus upon a Grand Scale.

Sands', Nathans & Co's. American circus is announced to be here on Wednesday the 17th inst. The universal popularity of these celebrated performers, their good character in their business and the high order of talent they have been accustomed to bring in the field, have naturally ensured to them success. We call particular attention to the advertisement of Messrs. Sands who in order to give full satisfaction has this season engaged a troupe even superior to that of any previous year. While all others are contracting and contracting, Sands is adding to the interest of his exhibition, by the accumulation of talent and novelty. The celebrated clown Sam Lathrop is attached to this company, as is also the no less celebrated Nathans. Nor is this all: there is a lady, Miss Leaman, who accompanies this troupe, that is said to beat all the foreign Madams, Mademoiselles and Signoras in her art. It is even asserted that Miss L. is able to do all the somersault feats on horseback, which no female before her has ever attempted. How she gets along with the gauze and the finally in these amazonian exploits of course remains to be seen.

Leslie's Gazette of Fashion.—We have received the October number of this universal ladies favorite. In place of writing a notice of it, we transfer the following, from the New York Herald, which speaks our sentiments exactly.

"Frank Leslie's Gazette of Fashion and the Beau Monde.—We have received the October number of "Frank Leslie's Gazette of Fashion and the Beau Monde." There is a noticeable improvement in the style and contents of each number of this magazine over the preceding one, and it now constitutes a really first-rate publication—at least the ladies of at least a most respectable period. We remark one new feature in it particularly, which strikes us as a very favorable one. It is that the leading articles are devoted to a description of the fashions as they are found in this city—not as they were one, three or six months ago in London or Paris. It is entitled "Our Monthly Review of Fashions and the Industrial Arts," and if we may judge by this article the subject is one which, if continued to be elucidated so well, will be of the most immediate interest to ladies, in and out of the city, who desire the best and most intelligible information on the prevailing fashion. In the way of prints, the Gazette makes a very creditable appearance, and its selections of reading matter are very apropos."

☞ It is published by Frank Leslie No. 12 Spruce Street, New York, at $3.00 per annum. Single copies, 25 cents, to be had at Hill's Book Store.

INDIVIDUAL MANAGEMENT.
Versus National Management.

John Bull has always prided himself upon his superiority. To use the words of Sam Slick, an Englishman thinks "that when nature formed him she broke the mould; there never was, never can, and never will be another like him."

No country has more reason to be proud of her men of business and enterprising merchants than Great Britain; at the same time no nation has greater need to lament the utter incompetency of her officials, and to deplore the want of energy which seems to pervade every class of the Queens servants. Officials without offices; officers without officials. Let us now take the case of an individual who has earned for himself a world wide fame—we refer to Professor Holloway. Having discovered an efficacious remedy for nearly every ill that flesh, is heir to, he lies by his own exertions gradually, but surely, disseminated his remedies through every part of the known world. Commencing with London as his central point, he has by dint of perseverance, tact and energy (the sure signs of a master mind) made known his pills and ointment to the very extremes of the compass—Whether you travel north, east, west, or south, you cannot pick up a newspaper that does not record the successes achieved by this wonderful and indefatigable man. There is no instance on record of any public man having ever approached so near a world wide celebrity as has Professor Holloway. We speak not of his medicines as a general, although we have indubitable reasons for believing that they have been proved by thousands to be invaluable; but one of the enterprise and skill in the system of advertising pursued by Professor Holloway, who has thus by a perfect knowledge of business, and an enlarged view, succeeded where thousands have failed either from want of judgement or circumscribed means. Take again the Professor's extensive premises at his establishment in London, why there is not one in the world to be compared to it! With the most regularity and care, every foreign paper that issues from the press is carefully filed; and so complete is the system that tea via'er, from amongst this multitudinous mass of literature, can be immediately accommodated with any foreign newspaper he may require, and this too, gratuously. These reading-rooms, who can thus acquaint themselves on any matter they may require. So much for individual management.

What a contrast does this present to the plodding routine adopted by the British government. What a slur to the country which produces such men of enterprise, that its affairs of state should be so slovenly performed. Our readers cannot fail to perceive that the foregoing lines do indeed reveal a startling instance of "Individual Management versus National Mis-management."—Pict. Repatter.

Sebastopol.

The Kamchatka side being completely in the hands of the allies, they are in a position to undertake operations in the field. Though they will not be able to establish many batteries or many troops in that suburb, on account of the fire from the northern shore of the harbor, they have succeeded in reducing the Russian portion of Sebastopol to less than one half its extent before the 8th inst. and to a fortress capable of holding but a limited number of defenders. Not only is the offensive power of the garrison completely crushed, but its defensive strength is greatly reduced. A far smaller number of men will suffice to carry on the siege, and the troops thus set free, with the reinforcements now on the road or at the camp of Maslaika will be available for an expedition to Reputation.

From the London Times.

The position of Prince Gortschakoff's army after the main body had effected its retreat across the harbor, was therefore as follows: His extreme right consisting of the corps most actively engaged in the defence of the place, rests upon the Severnaia work, or Star Fort, and holds the strongly entrenched position on the north shore, where no doubt considerable preparations have been made for this emergency. His centre covers the Belbeck, and is protected in front by the field works thrown up along the ridge of Inkermann. His left wing consists of Liprandi's corps, occupying the ground from Mackenzie's Farm to the heights of Aitodor, on Mackenzie's road. The struggle for the possession of Sebastopol is at an end. That prize is in our hands, and as the defence of the fortress and the harbor was the grand object of the Russians, they have nothing left on that spot to contend for. The more accurate on the north side of the port is a barren advantage, for, though it might hold a garrison, it cannot shelter a defensive army. We therefore infer that the northern forts will either be held for a time by a limited garrison, or more probably altogether abandoned, in the hope of saving the army. Never was an army in a more critical position. They are confined within a peninsula which affords them no other fortified position, no sustenance for the troops, and no water beyond a certain line. The sea, covered with hostile vessels, surrounds three-side of this theatre of war, and the fourth is separated from the Russian base of operation by steppes and marshes. The fullest armies already occupy strong positions at Eupatoria and Yenikale, which can be reinforced in a few hours by sea, so as to threaten the Russians in their flanks and rear and while it is impossible for the enemy to hold his ground in the south of the Crimea for which, indeed, there is now no further object. To retreat in this season across the country, is a form dubious undertaking, while the loss of a battle in an open field would be absolute destruction. The Russians are in a trap; from which the Tchernaya road and the harbor of Perekop are the only means of escape, and even there the Cossacks of the many possibly be intercepted.

☞ "Foreigners."—In the Disciplines of the Methodist Episcopal Church we find the following brief account of the first preaching by ministers of that church in the United States. It says: "In the year 1776, Philip Embury, a local preacher of our society, from Ireland began to preach in the city of New York, and formed a society of his own countrymen and of the citizens. In the same year Thomas Webb preached in a hired room near the barracks. About the same time Robert Strawbridge, a local preacher from Ireland, settled in Frederick county, in the State of Maryland, and, preaching there, formed some societies." &c. It will thus be seen that the first Methodist preachers in the United States were actually Irishmen, and that Irishmen formed the first Methodists societies, and established the first Methodist Churches. We hope, however, none of our Methodist R. N. Friends will become disgusted and leave their church because its first preachers in the United States were Irishmen and "Foreigners." We don't believe the church is any the worse on that account.—New Albany Ledger.

Diabolical Outrage.—The Chicago Times of Thursday says:

"Yesterday afternoon a negro, rejoicing in the name of Taylor and who is also a slave, was examined before Esquires Milliken and Lamb, charged with committing a gross and violent outrage upon the person of a young woman, a German, named Shultz, only recently married. The occurrence took place on the cemetery, in the northern part of the city, and from the evidence adduced appears to have been one of the most fiendish and diabolical villainies which ever disgraced this Abolition community.

"Mrs. Shultz, who appears to be an amiable and prepossessing young woman, upon being sworn, stated through an interpreter that she went out of her house in the North Division yesterday morning, in company with a young girl, a neighbor, to take a walk along the lake shore to see the effects of a recent storm, and to pick up any drift-wood that have floated to the land. On entering the cemetery she was astonished to see the prisoner coming toward her, using language which she did not understand, and finally accompanied with such conduct as induced her to scream out for aid. The negro, however, offered west appeared to be a three-dollar bill to appease her fright, accompanied by a gold ring; and finding that these were not sufficient solutions for her to keep quiet, he struck her to the earth by repeated blows, rendering the poor woman entirely insensible. In the meantime the little girl who accompanied Mrs. Shultz was screaming with terror, when the black scoundrel made after her and chased her out of the ground. The infuriated villain, after chasing the child from the immediate neighborhood, returned to his ingenuible victim and committed the hellish villainy of his brutal instinct."

The negro was committed to jail for for final trial.

Fatal Affray in Crittenden County, Arkansas.—A feud has some time existed between the Robinsons and the Stanleys, citizens of Crittenden County, Arkansas. On Saturday last David Stanley was informed that the Robinsons were heard to say that they would kill him that there was one of them there, that they would waylay his path, and that he should not see the sun go down next day. On Sunday, Stanley, having a double barreled shot gun, went to his hog-pen, 2 miles in the woods, to attend to catching some wild hogs belonging to him and Jesse H. Harris, accompanied by a negro man belonging to Harris. While there, James Robinson, accompanied by ——Lee, both armed with shot-guns, came up to Stanley. As they were approaching him, he said to Robinson—I understand you have said you intend to kill me." Robinson replied it was "a d——d lie," but at the same time told Stanley to come on and they would settle it. At that Robinson jumped off his horse and advanced on Stanley, who when he was within a few paces of him, discharged his gun, hitting Robinson in the lower part of the back and killing him instantly.

The Boundary Commission.—Major Emory, with his assistants, have completed the survey of the boundary line between the United States and Mexico, an l all of them much rejoices that they have ended their labors so inhospitable a desert. There is some doubt, after all this immense outlay of skill, labor and expense, whether the lines as determined by our Commissioner, will be accredited and recognized. It seems that the treaty stipulates the line to be run conjointly by Commissioners of the two countries," but the Mexican Commissioner has never acted. On his journey he had his mules and traveling equipage stolen from him and, subsequently, he was arrested by the order of SANTA ANNA; at all events, he never acted conjointly with Major Emory. The line is run, and, doubtless, with accuracy, but whether lawfully or not is another question.

Great Rejoicing in Canada.—Upon receipt of the news of the fall of Sevastopol, the people of Toronto lighted bonfires, fired off guns and rockets, amid the greatest excitement. At Stratford the Court was in session when the news was received; it was read by the Judge from the bench, amid loud cheering; and flags were flying everywhere through the town. At London, bells were rung, cannon fired, and a parade of the firemen through the streets, with bands of music.

Express Robbery.—$50,000 Stolen!—Two boxes containing fifty thousand dollars in gold were stolen from Wells, Butterfield & Co. express, while in transmission from Dubuque, Iowa, to New York.

The money belonged to the U. S. sub-treasury and its delivery was contracted by Adams & Co., who employed W. R. & Co's. for the purpose.

On the car val in New York the two boxes supposed to contain the gold, were found to be filled with bullets.

New Counterfeit.—Bank of Geauga, Painesville, Ohio, 2's, vignette male and female figure of agriculture seated on either side of an oval containing figure "2" female head and figure 2 on each end, ship between signature, dated Nov. 18, 1854. Painesville is spelt without the "e" in some of them.—Engraving poor, paper thick and white. We think this bank issues no 2's.

☞ Look out for them. They are in circulation here.

☞ English papers express the opinion, founded on careful examination, that Great Britain will only require an importation of 30,000,000 bushels of wheat to supply every possible deficiency. Three or four Western States could furnish the whole amount from their surplus stock.

WORCESTER, Oct. 2.

The Whig State Convention assembled here today. About 800 delegates were present. Hon. J. F. Stevenson, of Boston presided, and made a speech against fusion. Letters were read from Hon. R. C Winthrop, Hon. Rufus Choate and other in opposition to fusion.

The resolutions declare that the whig party should now more than ever keep aloof from entangling alliances. That they are now as ever the party of the Constitution. That the pending election is a state matter, and we repudiate the personal liberty bill, and advocate its repeal. That the present liquor law is a failure, and that we go for a law constitutional, and that will promote the cause of temperance. That we are opposed to the organization of a northern sectional party on a single issue of opposition to slavery.

Hon. Samuel H. Walley of Roxbury was nominated for Governor, Moses Davenport of Newburyport, who declined the liberty party nomination, For Governor, Lieut. Gov.

W. Davis of Greenfield was nominated for Secretary of State. Jno. Mitchell of New Bedford for Auditor.

Mr. Choate said that the word party of fusion was use in a wrong sense, that the whigs would not join any party who would not keep step with the music.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 2.

Abatement of Yellow Fever.—The deaths in this city on Saturday were 4, Sunday 7 and 3 to-day. In Portsmouth on Saturday 14, Sunday 9 with but few new cases. 54 doctors and nurses from other places have returned home.—The wife and daughter of Judge Taney died on Sunday.

Railroad Accident.—On Saturday last the morning train on the Indianapolis and Cincinnati Railroad was thrown from the track about 4 miles beyond Lawrenceburg. The accident was occasioned by the breaking of of one of the track wheels of the engine. The cars were thrown down an embankment of about eight feet, and turned over on the side, but without damaging them materially, save breaking the windows on one side. Many of the passengers were slightly bruised, but none seriously injured. The train was running at its usual speed at the time of the accident.

FOREIGN NEWS.

From the Monitear, Sept. 8.

Another Attempt to Assassinate the Emperor of the French.

His Majesty, the Emperor, attended a representation at the Italian Opera last night.

At the moment the carriage in which were the Ladies of Honor of Her Majesty, the Empress stopped in front of the theatre, an individual standing on the foot pavement opposite, fired, without taking aim, two small pocket pistols at the carriage.

No one was hit. This person, who appears to be a maniac rather than an assassin, was immediately arrested.

The name of the individual arrested is Pellonarre. He is also at 32 years of age, and was born at Reims. When he was 16 he was sentenced to two years imprisonment for swindling. His antecedents, his language, his attitude after his arrest and during his examination, shows that his reality is a maniac. He had taken up a position at the entrance of the Rue Marsollier on the foot pavement opposite to the entrance to the theatre, and he fired his two pistols at the moment when the cries of "Vive l'Empereur!" made him fancy that the carriage which conveyed the Ladies of Honor of the Empress was that of His Majesty. A city policeman on duty, at this point, immediately pulled down the assassin's arm and captured him at once.

Pellenarre was first taken to the Police office at the Italian Theatre, and at once, M. Pietri, Prefect of Police, presiding, a first statement was drawn up by the Commissary of Police of the District. The assassin is locked up in a cell at the Conservgerie, where he is undergoing an examination. The investigation continues.

His Majesty, the Emperor, on his entrance into the Theatre, where the news of this criminal attempt was immediately known, was greeted with shouts of "Vive l'Empereur!" and by rounds of applause, which were renewed at intervals.

His Majesty only remained about one hour at the Theatre, and then proceeded to the Palace of the Tuileries.

Arrival of the Pacific.

NEW YORK, Oct. 3d.

The Pacific arrived off Sandy Hook at 7 o'clock last evening. The night was so dark that she was not seen.

Her dates are to the 22d ult. Dispatches from Gen. Simpson from the seat of war had been received by the government describing the result and capture of the Malakoff. He says:

That at 12 o'clock on the morning of the 8th, the French columns under Gens. Bosquet, Mc-Mahn and De Lauriet, Regan, entered and carried the Malakoff with a most impetuous valor.

The British columns skirmished the Redan, but after a bloody combat could not hold it. The 2d assault could not be organized until the next A. M, when the Redan was forced to be evacuated.

The loss of life has been frightful, particularly among the officers.

Gen. Pellissier's dispatches had not arrived.

The retreat of the Russians to the Peroksp is contradicted. It was assured that they would be unable to hold the north of Sevastopol for the want of provisions.

Nothing definite was known in regard to the next movement of the allies.

4,000 cannon, 50,000 balls, and immense quantities of stores, were taken possession of by the allies.

SEVASTOPOL.—The Czar Alexander in his address to his army says: I rely confidently on your courage to repel all future attacks; and in a letter to the King of Prussia says, he will accept, no conditions of peace derogatory to Russia.

The Czar, in company with three Grand Dukes has signified his intention of visiting the Crimea.

The Emperor of Austria had congratulated Victoria and Napoleon on the victory of the allies.

There was more talk of negotiations. The latest was that Austria was willing to take work of mediating at Vienna and France at Paris.

It was reported that Russia had undertaken the work of mediation between Denmark and U. S. on the sound dues.

Another dispatch from Varna says a detachment of French troops who entered Varna on the 14th found the streets full of Russians and barricades thrown up.

Holloway's Ointment and Pills, a wonderful Cure of Ulcers in the Leg.—Frederick Hoff, of Houston, Texas, was afflicted for eight years with seven ulcers in the leg, like the keys of a flute, which discharged continuously and rendered his life one of the greatest wretchedness and misery; many remedies were tried in vain, he became worse, at last he had recourse to Holloway's Ointment and Pills, and by preserving with these remedies in accordance with the printed directions for nine weeks, he was radically cured, and is now able to walk better than ever he was in his life.

From the "Home Journal," New York.

"No article ever acquired so rapid celebrity and universal popularity as Lyon's Kathairon. To those who have need it, (and who has not?) the reason is obvious, as it not only beautifies the Hair, but preserves and restores it at an advanced age of life. Its perfumes and agreeable enlivening effects should stamp it an indispensible article of the toilet." The above is but one of thousands of similar commendations—it stands unrivalled as a toilet article. Be sure and ask for Lyon's Kathairon, as its unparalleled popularity has caused several unprincipled persons to put up valueless imitations, which they call by somewhat similar names. Sold everywhere in large bottles, for only 25 cents.

☞ It should be universally known, for it is stubbornly true, that in digestion is the parent of a large portion of the fatal diseases. Dyspepsia, Diarrœa, Cholera Morbus, Liver Complaint, and many other diseases enumerated in our City Inspector's weekly catalogue of death, are generally the result of Indigestion. Think of this all who suffer from disordered stomachs, and if you are willing to be guided by advice found on experience, resort at once to the use of Dr J. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters which, as a curative and invigorant, stand alone unapproached. For sale by druggists.

For sale by H. B Emrs, Wells & Meyer J. D. Werner & Co., and G. H. Wagner. 4w9

Prof. Wood's Hair Restorative.

We invite special attention to the ad vertisement of this article in another column of our paper. It has now been a little less than two years before the public, and yet it has become from its intrinsic merit a standard article upon the shelves of almost all druggists, and the Chester Herald says: "It now stands at the head of all remedies of the kind." Nor is this result at all surprising when it is remembered that distinguished chemists, as well as many members of the medical profession, indeed ladies and gentlemen of the highest intelligence, in all parts of the country, testify to its value and will restore the hair over the head quite bald. It cures all dandruff and itching, and all diseases of the scalp; and more than all, preserves the hair, if used for toilet purposes, both in color and growth falling out to any imaginable age. Reader try it. Call and procure one of the circulars from the Agent, and we think you cannot doubt.—See also the advertisement.

I HAVE greatly extended my arrangements for the manufacture of my improved Machine, to which has been awarded the first premiums at the World's Fair Exhibition, New York, 1853, the State Farm of Ohio, 1853-4, and all other places where it has been exhibited in the United States and Europe. By many practical tests with the best machines in use, it has invariably proven superior in all essential points. I have made many valuable improvements during the last year, and have no hesitation in warranting my machines superior to any in use.

"I have used Jacob's Cordial in my family, and have found it a most efficient, and in my judgment, a valuable remedy." Hon. HIRAM WARNER, Judge of Supreme Court, Ga.

"It gives me pleasure in being able to recommend Jacob's Cordial—not only from personal experience, and that of my neighbors and friends around me, in a sufficient guarantee for me to believe it to be a valuable remedy." WM. H. HARDEMAN.

"I take great pleasure in recommending this invaluable medicine to all afflicted with bowel diseases, for which I believe it to be a sovereign remedy—the likely superior in use and effects I have ever known." A. A. GAMBLING, Deputy G. M. of the Grand Lodge of Georgia.

"I have used Jacob's Cordial in my family, and find, without a doubt, it is a remedy by those who have tried it, inferior to none in the world for the cure of the diseases of the Bowels. I would recommend the use to the afflicted." REUBEN G. DORRIS, Cashier of the Bank of the State of Georgia, Dalton.

"If there is any credibility in human testimony, Jacob's Cordial must stand pre-eminent above all other preparations for the cure of Bowel Diseases. From the nature of its ingredients, it cannot be otherwise than safe, as a cathartic agent, of most if not all other 'patent' preparations." A. PIERMONT, Cashier Marine and Fire Insurance Bank, Griffin, Georgia. Jefferson, May 19, 1852.

"The strictest remedy is travelling into celebrity as fast as Ransom's pocket full of pills." Extract from a letter of recommendation, wherever used.

Prof. Wood's Hair Restorative.

WE call the attention of all, old and young, to this wonderful preparation, which came back to its original color and beauty of youth, the head of baldness, and all consequent complications. It cleanses the natural glands, and causes the hair to grow upon any part of the head where the roots are not entirely destroyed. It keeps the hair in its natural color and keeps it from falling; it restores all ages to their natural beauty. We will thus, in a few brief words, say, for the good people who have used it, are satisfied that it has worked them. We have certainly accepted the agency in every one who has used it, and six of the cases were of long standing. My sister, who had had it for five or six years back, and could never get it at rest, except by Q thing' and that only as long as she would take it, and now, I think, entirely cured of my complaint.

CHATTANOOGA, Ten., Sept. 9, 1854.

MESSRS. RADWAY & Co.—I feel happy to say to you that I gave Brandreth's Pills to two persons who had been afflicted with Scrofula. My son Stanley was cured by the use of one box of your Renovating Resolvent, and one box of your Regulators, after all the Doctors had failed.

Mrs. Mary Ann Britton, wife of James Ali Britt, had a terrible tumor on the neck. She says she tried in vain for a year to get relief from Brandreth's Pills. They had failed, when by the use of your Resolvent a few were purchased. She bottle of Resolvent and one bottle of Regulators, has made a permanent cure.

SMUT MACHINES.

THESE Patent, French Burr, Smut Machines, used in 600 of the best Mills in the West; they run light, clean fast and well, are very durable and can warranted to give satisfaction. When they become smooth, the edge can be perfectly renewed, in 9 or 3 hours, by the Miller cracking the Burr, whereas when an Iron Smut Mill becomes smooth, it is rendered useless, and must be thrown aside.

We refer here to only a few Millers who are using the Burr Machine; viz: N. Hull, Lafayette; W. D. Hibbert, Vincennes; Peter King, E. Gains, Wabash; Fellis and Shields, Attica; Shrewsbury and Price, Mishawaka; Overright & Bros., Cass Co.; E. McElurry, New Albany, Ind.; J. M. Findley, Niles, Michigan.

We also annex a certificate from the proprietors of the Pittsburgh City Mills, one of the largest and best mills in the West, and for particulars refer to our handbills.

SOMETHING

NEW AND VALUABLE.

The most powerful King on the face of the globe now reigns supreme in the American Republic. The power of the crowned heads of Europe dwindle into insignificance when compared to our American King.

European kings employ the power vested in them to increase the riches of the rich and wealthy, and to reduce to greater misery and degradation, the poor and dependent. Our American King goes forth with a sword in his hand, not to destroy his fellow beings, but to wage a war of extermination on the diseases of Sarsaparilla that has ever been placed before the public. Although there are many physicians who feel it to be their duty to oppose the introduction of the recommendation of any particular remedy, notwithstanding they may oppose of it in the highest degree; there are others who have highly lauded the merits of a remedy which they know is capable of doing so much good to an afflicted community. As an instance, read the following from old and respectable physicians of high standing in the community in which they live

TESTIMONY:

☞ Testimony like the following renders superfluous all comments on the efficacy of Bull's Sarsaparilla. From Dr. L. D. Yandell, Professor of Chemistry in the Louisville Medical College: I have looked over the list of ingredients composing John Bull's compound extract of Sarsaparilla, and have no hesitation in saying that they form a safe compound, and one that promises well in chronic diseases, to which it is applied &c.

L. D. YANDELL, M.D.

LOUISVILLE, June 9, 1853.

What Dr. Pyles, physician to the Marine Hospital, says of Bull's Sarsaparilla.

LOUISVILLE, March 29, 1852.

I have examined the prescription for the preparation of John Bull's Sarsaparilla, and I believe the combination to be an excellent one, and well calculated to produce an alterative impression of the blood. I have used it both in public and private practice, and think it is the best article of Sarsaparilla now in use.

JNO. PYLES, M. D.

Resident Physician Louisville Marine Hospital.

Letter testimony than whatever offered in favor of any medicine. Rev. H. W. Nelson—Jos. F. Stevenson:
